

PERMISSIVE ACCESS

Open access has been provided by the local landowner adjacent to the Grand Union Canal. Features of interest include the earthworks of the medieval remains of Welford village and Welford Mill; the mill race is particularly prominent. Linear access links up with the existing Public Right of Way and also the Grand Union Canal. During your walk you may be lucky enough to see farmland birds, such as tree sparrows, yellow hammers and turtle doves.

This access has been provided under the Department for Environment, Food & Rural Affairs' farm conservation schemes as managed by Natural England, which help farmers and land managers protect and improve the countryside, its wildlife and history. It is permissive access and no new rights of way are being created. Existing rights of way are not affected. Please follow the Countryside Code and observe any other requirements shown above. Do not disturb wildlife, livestock or other visitors and in particular keep dogs under control. This is working farmland so please take care; people using this site do so at their own risk. Access ends on 30th April 2018.
