

PERMISSIVE ACCESS

Enjoy the open access provided in this field. You may walk anywhere, play games or picnic on the river bank. There is a bench by the river to enjoy watching the water or the sunset. Take the footpath north from here, you will cross more of this farm's grass fields, some have ridge and furrow patterns from medieval cultivations. In summer swallows nest in the traditional redbrick farm buildings and can be seen hunting and calling across the fields.

This access has been provided under the Department for Environment, Food & Rural Affairs' farm conservation schemes as managed by Natural England, which help farmers and land managers protect and improve the countryside, its wildlife and history. It is permissive access and no new rights of way are being created. Existing rights of way are not affected. Please follow the Countryside Code and observe any other requirements shown above. Do not disturb wildlife, livestock or other visitors and in particular keep dogs under control. This is working farmland so please take care; people using this site do so at their own risk. Access ends on 31st July 2018.
